Quality Compression Garments for over 30 Years
WHO WE ARE

ContourMD offers a wide variety of products designed to help patients recover comfortably. These products include post-surgical compression garments, garments for bariatric, mastectomy and maternity, recovery and medical supplies. Contour® post-surgical compression garments were first introduced to the marketplace in 1983 and our garments have earned us the trademark slogan Recover in Comfort®.

Our reputation is built on personalized service and a desire to meet your goals. You can depend on us to treat you and your customers with the utmost respect in sharing our profession expertise, meeting surgical schedules and providing custom garments. We have worked closely with plastic and cosmetic surgeons to provide the finest compression wear available.

We unconditionally guarantee the quality of workmanship and satisfaction. All of our products are manufactured in Kansas City and we strive to find raw materials manufactured in the United States. Our sewing floor has adopted the slogan “there is nothing accidental about quality”.

We offer compressive, comfortable, quality post-surgical garments at a reasonable cost. Take the time to compare and give us a call.

Contour® garments are available at: www.contourmd.com, along with other recovery products. Our website is also a source for information to help educate your patients about various procedures.

Your continuing business is important to us and we look forward to being of service.

Lipo Foam gives uniform smooth compression over a suctioned area. It is ideal for arms, chins, abdomen, thighs or any area uniform healing is necessary. Lipo Foam can be inserted between a garment and suctioned areas or adhered to the surface with the use of Hollister Adhesive spray. ContourMD recommends purchasing 5 or more sheets at a time.

- Less Bruising
- Less Swelling
- Less Ecchymosis
- Uniform Compression Over Suctioned Area
- Ideal for arms, chins, abdomen, thighs or any area where uniform healing is necessary.

How Do You Reduce Bruising After Liposuction?

You should be using Lipo Foam...

Lipo Foam is medical grade polyurethane foam designed to provide even, smooth padding and compression for added comfort and contouring.

Used in conjunction with the compression garment, Lipo Foam is positioned over the liposuction treated areas to evenly distribute the pressure and minimize folds or creases. It is ideal for arms, chins, abdomen, thighs or any area where uniform healing is necessary.
How Lipo Foam Works

Used in conjunction with a compression garment, the combination reduces swelling and bruising dramatically. A bruise occurs when red blood cells leak out of blood vessels and move toward the skin surface. The application of foam directly onto skin beneath a compression garment, tightly compresses the skin’s collagen fibers and prevents bruising by minimizing the movement of red blood cells from the liposuction wound toward the surface of the skin.

Benefits

• Less waviness in the skin surface
  Free fat cells are thought to be redistributed evenly by the pressure of the foam plus the pressure garment. The result is a smoother skin surface with less waviness.

• A more comfortable recovery
  Lipo Foam is also comfortable under the compression garment and there is less immediate postoperative tenderness.

• Less blood loss and ecchymosis
  Use of the Lipo foam, in conjunction with the garment, results in less postoperative bleeding and bruising. In turn, there is a decrease in the amount of postoperative fall in hematocrit. With less of a drop in hematocrit and hemoglobin, there is also less postoperative anemia. The mechanism involved in the reduction in blood loss is thought to be a combination of overcoming capillary pressure and stabilization of the skin and subsurface blood vessels.
